

Please Join Us for a Talk on Zoom
about the Environmental Justice
Challenges and Opportunities in Massachusetts.

Environmental Justice is Racial Justice: Centering Equity in our Region's Climate Movement

Staci Rubin

Vice President, Environmental Justice

Conservation Law Foundation

Thursday, March 31, 2022

7:00 p.m.

When: Thursday, March 31, 2022, on Zoom at 7:00 pm. (Zoom link below)

Who: Staci Rubin, Vice President, Environmental Justice at Conservation Law Foundation (CLF). Rubin partners with residents of historically marginalized communities to solve some of our biggest environmental challenges and works with staff across the organization to embed environmental justice throughout CLF's culture.

What: Communities of color and low-income neighborhoods are typically hit first and worst by the climate crisis change, pollution, and other environmental harms, a pattern attributable to centuries of oppression often reinforced by the terms and structure of current environmental laws and policies. This event will explore environmental justice challenges and strategies and opportunities to address them in Massachusetts.

Introduction by: CLF Trustee Andy Falender

Sponsored by: First Parish Lincoln's Racial Justice Advocates and Conservation Law Foundation (CLF)

Please Join US!

Zoom Link, See Calendar: www.fplincn.org/calendar/

